conjunction with a hinge belt conveyor. The Turbo MH500 is a conveyor designed to remove all chip shapes made of different material incorporating filtration to 500µ.

Chip Conveyors - Ins-europe.com

The Turbo MH500 is a conveyor designed to remove all chip shapes made of different material incorporating filtration to 500µ. The hinge belt removes the chips in the same way as a normal hinge belt conveyor but the use of filter boxes ensures that all chips greater than 500µ in size cannot pass into the coolant tank.

I have had two LNS conveyors over the years (still have one but we shovel the machine out because it works better than the LNS conveyor) and I am not impressed with that company. Anything more than a mouse piss amount of coolant and the chips wash out of the conveyor and straight into the coolant tank.
